Christianity's Misconceptions of Women

by Peter Michas (booklet)

Exposes fundamental errors in belief and doctrine concerning women and their roles, revealing the true freedom women have in Messiah Yeshua (Jesus). Be freed from the bondage of false man-made doctrines which hinder the work of the Holy Spirit in fulfilling the Great Commission of our Lord.

Did you know that in the First-Century Church, women were equal partners in serving the Body of Messiah? Women served in leadership positions until the Church took on more and more of the prevailing pagan Greco-Roman attitudes of women's subordination to men, including the prohibition of leadership and teaching roles to women. This is in sharp contrast to the Biblical perspective.

The Word of God clearly shows the equality of men and women from the moment of their creation, and marriage as a co-equal relationship. In Old Testament times, the position and status of women in the Israelite community reflected this Biblical equality and importance, in stark contrast to the subservient role of women in the pagan world. Under the New Covenant mediated by Messiah Yeshua, there is no partiality based upon sex, and women are free to function in all aspects of the Body of Messiah as they are called by God.

The issues of leadership and teaching, headship and covering, the marital relationship, submission of women, proper dress and adornment are thoroughly discussed from the Biblical perspective. Errors of translation and interpretation, including deliberate alterations in the Word of God itself, that give rise to erroneous concepts and doctrines are examined, corrected, and clarified for an accurate understanding of what the Bible really says.
